A. Poetry

The purpose of this exam is to assess the students’ familiarity with the literary genre of poetry and the main critical vocabulary used in its analysis. Candidates are expected to show their capacity to read a poem and to construct a valid interpretation. All reading material is included in the volume The Norton Introduction to Poetry, ed. J. Paul Hunter, Alison Booth & Kelly J. Mays (9th Edition, New York and London: Norton, 2007). The book is structured in such a way as to present the basic concepts inherent in the genre of poetry (especially lyric poetry), discussing them separately in order to help the students’ understanding of how poetry works. In each case sample poems are discussed in detail in order to give an example of the application of theory to specific texts. Candidates are advised to study the material indicated very closely in order to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary for the practical criticism of poetry. The poem or poems, on which they will be examined, however, will be different from (but of a similar nature and level of difficulty to) those analysed in the book. Candidates will also be expected to write a well-expressed and well-constructed essay, which combines the information and terminology acquired in their study of The Norton Introduction to Poetry, according to the special needs of the poem or poems they will be asked to analyse.

B. Drama

Students will be required to study in detail the following plays and to write one essay demonstrating their knowledge both of the plays themselves and of the basic critical vocabulary used in the analysis of drama. The list of Recommended Secondary Reading is intended as a general guide, to familiarise candidates with the relevant critical terms which they will be expected to use in their exam essays:
Plays to be studied:
1. Henrik Ibsen, A Doll’s House
2. Tennessee Williams, The Glass Menagerie
3. Harold Pinter, The Birthday Party

Recommended Secondary Reading:

Both these texts, as well as additional reading material on the individual playwrights' works (Ibsen, Williams & Pinter), can be found in the library of the English Department, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki.

C. Fiction
Candidates will be expected to have read in detail the following short stories, most of which are available in Section 2 (Fiction) of Elements of Literature, ed. Robert Scholes, et al, 4th edition (New York & Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1991). In addition, a reading of pp. 121-199 of this book, as well as the brief introductions to Fabulation (p. 201), Realism (p. 296) and Metafiction (p. 493), will introduce candidates to the basic critical vocabulary required for the analysis of fiction. The exam will require candidates to write well-constructed and well-expressed essays, demonstrating their knowledge both of the stories themselves and of the critical vocabulary used in their analysis.
